It is said that Count de Castellane wears an eleven-thousand-dollar overcoat. There is a good deal more on that fellow than in him.

The city of Macon, Ga., has forty manufacturing plants whose output is worth $25,000,000 a year. They pay out in wages $1,500,000.

A Syracuse man showed the high regard he had for his deceased wife and family by marrying her mother. He wanted to keep her in the family.

A woman was arrested in Denver, Colorado, Tuesday for voting too much, and she was a Republican too. She says she wanted to make some money.

Business was flush with the negro voters in Kansas city, Mo., Tuesday. They got $2 and $3 a piece for their votes and they voted as often as they could.

It will be interesting to note how the Republican statesmen who scored the trusts and talked for tariff revision during the past campaign will perform after Congress meets.

It requires 90,000,000 of new railroad cross ties annually to replace the worn out in the 620,000,000 laid on the roads of this country. What a drain this is on our forests.

The Prince of Siam says he has no idea of marrying an American girl. But as the Prince's father has 132 wives there are few American girls who would be willing to confront that many mothers-in-law.

A report comes from Richmond that the railroad managers have had to put a guard over the sitting rooms in the Union Depot to prevent the guests from converting them into cigarette smoking rooms. Naughty, naughty girls.

Our pencil manufacturers charge American purchasers $4.50 gross, while the export price is $2.25, and to Japan $1.80. That's where the protective tariff gets in between the pencil Trust and the fellow who wants to make his mark in this country.

INNES' BAND COMES TO-DAY.

Will Arrive on Special Train From Newbern—At the Academy To-Night. Sale of Seats.

To-night the Academy offers a decidedly big musical event in a concert by Innes' Band, which will reach the city by special train this afternoon, after playing a matinee only in Newbern.

Bohumir Kryl, the cornet soloist, who is to appear with Innes, is an illustration of what can be achieved by pluck and industry when added to genius. A few years ago Kryl was a sculptor in Indianapolis, working in the atelier of a well-known artist there. One night after a social dinner at which were present both the young sculptor and the famous American band-master, Kryl was prevailed upon to play a few notes on the instrument he loved beyond almost anything else on earth. The bandmaster was electrified. "Why, my boy," said he, "you have a fortune in that cornet of your's. Come with me, put yourself under my direction, and inside of a year you'll be earning more money than a U. S. Senator." Kryl eagerly seized the opportunity, and the result has justified the prediction of the great bandmaster. The young Bohemian sculptor is to-day concededly the King of cornetists. His fame is world-wide, while his income is such as will surely earn for him a princely fortune. He is only 25 years of age, but his marvellous performances upon his golden cornet have placed him in the foremost of the world's greatest virtuosi.

The prices here are $1.50, $1, and 75 cents, the same as in other cities.

DUPLIN DID ITSELF PROUD.

Democratic Majorities Ranged From 681 to 878—Big Reunion on Nov. 15th.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

KENANSVILLE, N. C., Nov. 7.—The canvassing board met here yesterday and completed the count of the county vote, which shows a Democratic majority ranging from 681 to 878. C. S. Carr, Register of Deeds, led the ticket with 1,604 votes, receiving a majority of 878. The majorities are as follows: Walter Clark, 865; Chas. R. Thomas, 865; Duffy, 828; Hicks (Senate), 875; Carlton (House), 681; Wallace (Clerk), 803; Middleton (Sheriff), 859; Carr (Register of Deeds), 878.

The Democrats carried precincts which they had not carried since 1890. The Republicans carried upper Island Creek and Rockfish townships by 11 majority each, and Wolfscrape by 2. The other precincts are all Democratic. There was a complete landslide in Whiteoak, which has been anti-Democratic since 1890. Smiths' still stands solid and is the banner precinct, only five Republican votes being cast and no scratching. All the precincts did well notwithstanding the fact that 444 Democrats remained at home and did not vote. A full Democratic vote would have given 1,200 majority.

On account of the prohibition question the anti-prohibitionists made a vigorous fight on D. L. Carlton for the House, but as chairman of the Executive Committee and as candidate he made a plucky fight and won many friends for himself and Democracy. The result is more than gratifying to his friends and is a blow to the opponents of Democracy.

There will be a big reunion of old veterans here Nov. 15th, and everybody is invited to come and bring a basket.

TOBACCO IN PENDER COUNTY.

Correspondent at Currie Thinks Warehouses Here Will Pay.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

CURRIE, N. C., Nov. 6.—Mr. Joel Whaley who lives about 2½ miles from this place planted this year two acres of the poorest land he had on his farm in tobacco. He did not get a good stand as the weather was very dry at the time the plants were set. He sold his crop a few days ago at his barn to Mr. L. G. Cherry, of Winston, for $147.11. It paid him better than any other crop he planted. Mr. Whaley also raises cotton, corn and strawberries. He says it will not do to depend on any one crop. I see through the press that Wilmington is going to build a tobacco warehouse. I hope they will as it will be nearer for the farmers to haul their tobacco to your city than to Wallace.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Northrops Not Guilty of Conspiracy or Assault Upon Jno. H. Gore, Jr.

A HIGHWAYMAN SENTENCED.

Hogan, the White Tramp, Sent to Penitentiary for Six Years—An Example of Swift Judgment—Other Proceedings of Yesterday.

The case in the Superior Court against Messrs. Robert H. and W. H. Northrop, Jr., for an assault and battery upon John H. Gore, Jr. Esq., was concluded yesterday about noon, the jury having returned a verdict of not guilty after having been out only a short time. In the additional case against the same defendants for conspira y to commit an assault upon the same complainant, a nol pros, was entered. The case had occupied the court since 11 A. M. the previous day and was of much general interest on account of the prominence of the parties concerned.

George Hogan, the white tramp arrested Wednesday night on the Carolina Central railroad yards for highway robbery of Mr. Benj. L. Grant, was the next defendant before the court yesterday. A detective, giving his name as Baldwin, testified that he saw the robbery of the old man, made the arrest and turned Hogan over to an officer. Mr. Grant also testified as to the occurrence and the jury was not ten minutes in bringing in a verdict of guilty, whereupon Judge Bryan sentenced the defendant to eight years in the penitentiary. Later Judge Bryan reduced the sentence to six years. The case is an example of swift justice for a grave offence. Hogan robbed Mr. Grant Wednesday night. Thursday at noon, he was bound over to the higher court by the Mayor and Friday at noon he was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary for his crime.

All of the afternoon session of the court was taken up in the trial of a negro named Jim Towsend, charged with throwing stones into an Atlantic Coast Line excursion train, leaving the city one night last Summer. Townsend was represented by Messrs. Brooke G. Empie and Herbert McClammy and Solicitor Duffy was assisted in the prosecution by Mr. Junius Davis, A. C. L. attorney. After hearing the evidence, the jury promptly returned a verdict of guilty and Judge Bryan was entertaining a motion in arrest of judgment made by defendant's counsel, when a recess was taken until 10 A. M. to-day. Mr. Davis asked time to prepare an answer to the argument for arrest of judgment made by the defendant's counsel.

Other proceedings which appear on the clerk's docket yesterday are: John Hurst, assault with deadly weapon, not guilty; Matilda Smith and Hattie Mitchell, charge of mayhem, amended to assault and battery, and defendants sentenced to two months in jail each, with leave to Commissioners to hire out.

In the civil suit of Mary E. Irving vs. William Blanks, et al., invol ving the title to the land upon which Summer Rest is situated, an order was made for an alias summons for Pembroke Jones and E. K. Bryan.

To-day the defendants in the three capital cases will likely be formally arraigned and the trials continued until the next term, three weeks later.

The grand jury is still in session, with Capt. Walter G. MacRae as foreman. It is understood from the large number of witnesses summoned that a number of new matters are being taken up and that some sensational developments may result to-day.

The following talesmen were ordered summoned for jury duty to-day: S. A. Grellish, J. S. King, L. B. Pennington, W. H. Hardy, Thomas F. Bayley, W. J. Howard, Geo. S. Boylan, J. Carmer Davis, Geo. F. Quinn, Wm. Sheehan, Sr., Jos. P. Montgomery, Moses Padrick, C. W. Yates, C. J. McKeithan, E. G. King, George H. Hutaff, William H. Yopp and C. A. Sterne.

WILMINGTON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

Concluded Its Sessions at Long Creek Yesterday—Something of the Work.

The new Wilmington Association of thirty-three Baptist churches closed its first session at Long Creek church, in Pender county, yesterday. It was well attended. From this city were Messrs. D. L. Gore, C. D. Weeks, H. L. Peterson, Revs. J. L. Vipperman, C. B. Paul, J. W. Wheeler, J. R. Marshall and C. S. Blackwell, D. D.

The next session will be with Bethlehem church in Bladen county, Tuesday following the second Sunday in October next.

The most immediate and urgent resolution was to urge all the pastors and officers in all the churches to take up a liberal collection at once for the Baptist Female University debt, and forward it before the State Convention at Durham, Dec. 4th. This matter is urgent and prompt action is needed. J. T. Bland, Esq., was moderator, and Addison Hewlett clerk.

Real Estate Transfers.

By deeds filed for record yesterday Samuel Northrop and wife and W. H. Northrop and wife transferred to W. A. McGowan for $75, lot on south side of Wooster, between Third and Fourth streets, 40x66 feet in size, and Jos. C. Shellington and wife transferred to John W. Batson for one dollar and other considerations, house and lot near Third and Wright street.

THE MARKETS AND SHIPPING.

Handsome Steamer From South American Port—Cotton Declines and Receipts Fall Off—Movement of Vessels.

British steamer Holmlea, bound hence with cargo of cotton for Bremen, passed out at Southport yesterday afternoon.

The weekly statement of receipts of naval stores at Wilmington, posted yesterday, shows gains in all items except tar, which continues to fall off.

British steamer Candleshoe cleared yesterday for Liverpool, England, with cargo of 13,533 bales of cotton, consigned by Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son.

British steamer Mountby, 2,114 tons, Capt. Payne, sailed from New York for Wilmington yesterday. Steamers Aacacia and Valetta, bound from Wilmington to Bremen, arrived out yesterday.

Local cotton quotations dropped to 7¾ cents for middling yesterday. The market was firm. The receipts yesterday were 1,204 bales, against 3,177 bales same day last year. The week's receipts ended yesterday were 11,693 bales; same week last year, 17,585 bales. Crop year receipts to date have been 184,789 bales, against 127,664 up to a corresponding date last season. It is expected that cotton receipts will begin to fall off from this date.

British steamer Zambesi, 2,416 tons, Capt. Rooney, arrived in port yesterday. Although this is Capt. Rooney's first trip to Wilmington, the local maritime people find him an exceedingly clever gentleman. He has a fine ship, two years old next January, equipped with its own electric lighting system, and a beauty in every respect. The steamer comes from Santos, Brazil, and Capt. Rooney has on board a number of interesting reminders of the South American port.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING AT CURRIE.

Marriage of Miss Thyra Topping Lucas to Dr. J. R. Thomson.

[Special Star Correspondence.]

CURRIE, N. C., Nov. 7.—One of the most fashionable and brilliant weddings that Pender has ever witnessed took place at the hospitable home of Dr. and Mrs. G. F. Lucas at Currie on Wednesday, November 5th, high noon.

The house, decorated with smilax, Autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, was a suitable bower for flower nymphs. Even Georgia yielded of her store of blossoms to grace the occasion.

Before an altar of white chrysanthemums and smilax, kneeling under a bell of white flowers, Miss Thyra Topping Lucas and Dr. James Randolph Thomson were united in the holy bond of matrimony by the Rev. V. H. Starbuck with a most impressive service.

Miss Mary Lucas, the bride's sister, was maid of honor and Mr. J. B. Black best man. Little Inez Wooten, fairy like in her childish beauty and innocence, was ring bearer.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white silk mulle, made with lace and ribbon, and a veil draped with carnations. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden-hair ferns. The maid of honor was dressed in white organdie and ribbon, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden-hair ferns. The groom and best man were attired in conventional black.

After the ceremony was over the wedding party and guests were invited to a marriage feast, such as one of this generation is seldom fortunate enough to partake of. The good old fashioned dinner of roast turkey, beef, chicken, ham, etc., with the pies, cakes, fruit and ambrosia, surpassed the efforts of ye French chefs and vied with those of the "old black mammies of the kitchen before de war." The table was tastily draped with white flowers, green vines and fruits.

The numerous and costly gifts testified to the love and esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their friends. Quite a large number of guests from this and other States were in attendance on this festive occasion.

Rev. J. A. Morehead, D. D. Here.

Rev. J. A. Morehead, D. D., and family arrived in Wilmington last evening and are the guests of Dr. G. D. Bernheim. Dr. Morehead will preach the sermon at the Reformation services of St. Matthew's English Lutheran church to-morrow at 11 o'clock. The public is cordially invited to hear him. Dr. Morehead was for several years pastor of the English Lutheran church, of Richmond, Va. Since then he has been the successful president of the Lutheran Theological Seminary at Charleston, S. C. He traveled in Europe last Winter and attended lectures at leading universities of Germany. He is an able scholar and an eloquent preacher. His sermon to-morrow will be a treat for all present.

WEEK OF CARNIVAL.

Rain Again Interfered With Mont Pelee Eruption on the River Last Night.

POSTPONED UNTIL TO-NIGHT.

Closing Day of the Fair Will Be Grandest of Them All With Good Weather—Already an Assured Financial Success—Leave Sunday.

The weather Man could not have sent along a dirtier or more disagreeable day for Carnival purposes than yesterday turned out to be. Lowering clouds hung loosely in the elements all day and it rained intermittently; sometimes persistently. It was a day on which everybody felt inclined to remain indoors and it was, therefore, not a good season for the Pythian fair, which had just reached the heighth of its glory when rain began to descend on the night previous.

Notwithstanding the rains, however, there was much fun-making; visitors continued to throng the streets and most of the shows did a good business. Early in the evening the Carnival district was thronged, in the face of an advisory warning from the Weather Bureau that a northeaster was liable to break over the city at any minute and it required a good, heavy downpour of cold rain to finally drive the people to shelter.

"If this Carnival would keep up a month," one gentleman said, "there would be very little falling off in the crowds each night." As a substantial proof of what he said, he pointed to Front and Market streets where, with a cold, drizzling rain coming down on them, the people literally packed all the open space available and the midway shows in the vicinity.

With the rain came disappointment—bitter disappointment for both the people and the fair management. The Mont Pelee eruption had to again be postponed. Every detail was ready for the display. Manager Layton and his men worked like beavers all the afternoon and at nightfall everything was in readiness. But the rain descended and at a hasty consultation the committee decided best to postpone the event. The display could have taken place, but the damp atmosphere and the rain would have spoiled it and so the Committee and Manager Layton thought best to postpone the big event until the same hour to-night, when it will come off "rain or shine." It's no saving to the Committee or to Manager Layton, for the material is here and has to be paid for just the same, but the fair management, after its high claims, doesn't want to forfeit the confidence of the people.

The weather forecast for North Carolina is: "Fair Saturday and Sunday, except rain on the coast; fresh northeast winds." That's not very encouraging, but the prediction yesterday was for fair weather, and may be the reversed order of things will continue to-day, which means fair weather. The local forecast for Wilmington and vicinity is encouraging, and the Carnival management is hoping for better things to-day.

It was not known last night until the last minute that the eruption would not take place, and the water front, from Chesnut to Ann street, was lined with people. The steamer Wilmington, with festive Japanese lanterns hanging from every deck, was fired up and ready to take a party out into the stream, and the steamer Compton was likewise in readiness for the same mission, but to no avail. Housetops were covered with people and every window with a view of the river was utilized. At 8 o'clock the postponement was announced above the din by megaphone, but even then the people reluctantly turned their faces toward the tamer amusements on the midway.

It's much like the cry of "wolf," but don't forget that the eruption takes place to-night at 8 o'clock. No change in the hour but a slight change in the date.

The weather and the sickness of Mr. Baldwin again prevented the balloon ascension yesterday, but it will come off to-day as advertised unless some insurmountable difficulty again comes in the way.

Manager Layton, of the Carnival Co., is a prince of good fellows and no one is disappointed about the weather more than he is. He says his patronage in Wilmington has been fine and the Pythians say the same. They have already cleared enough money to handsomely furnish their new hall and there's no doubt of the success of the fair from every viewpoint. The Parade Committee as the result of its voting contest for Queen of the Carnival will turn over several hundred dollars into the Pythian exchequer and Mr. John R. Turrentine, Jr., in charge of the confetti department, will do almost as well. Out of 20,000 bags he has only about 1,800 left and as the final battles are placed on the programme for to-night, the supply is likely to run short. The material should be bought early to save disappointment. Proprietor James F. Woolvin has also done well with the Country Store and his only trouble has been in keeping up his stock. There's no danger of a bankruptcy case for him. Chairman Fishblate, of the Booth and Privilege Committee, has also done well and as chairman of the Executive Committee he's simply immense.

The Carnival closes to-night and the shows leave to-morrow for Sumter, S. C.; then to Florence and then to Charleston.

THE STATE'S THANKSGIVING.

Proclamation Issued Yesterday By Governor Aycock—Corresponds as Usual With the National Observance.

[Special Star Telegram.]

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 7.—Governor Aycock to-day issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 27th, as Thanksgiving Day. The preamble is as follows: "The State has greatly prospered during the past year. In the main our farmers made good crops and received fair prices for them; the manufacturers have reasonably succeeded; labor has received just reward for service, and the State has had peace, quiet and good order. For all these blessings we owe acknowledgement to the Lord. Things do not happen, but the hand of God is in every happiness that comes to our people. It is appropriate that this Christian State should acknowledge its obligations to God for the blessings it has enjoyed."

In conclusion the proclamation says: "I urge all people to meet in their respective places of worship and there thank God for his manifold mercies he has shown us, individually and as a people, and ask his protection and guidance in the future. I earnestly recommend that on this day our people shall give, as God has prospered us, unto those needy; particularly to the widows and orphans."

A GREAT RUN.

The Atlantic Coast Line Furnishes Diavolo, who Loops the Loop, a Special Train.

"The Atlantic Coast Line gave Diavolo, the loop the loop of Forepaugh & Sells' Circus, a great run for his money yesterday. It cost Diavolo $175,00 but he gave that up gladly to get from Jacksonville to Waycross in time to ride in the afternoon performance. Diavolo got left at Jacksonville. He was in great distress until informed that he could secure a special to take him to Waycross. As speedily as possible, a train was made up consisting of an engine, baggage car and coach. Then Diavolo as the sole passenger started out. It is 75 miles from Jacksonville to Waycross. The train ate up that distance in 77 minutes. Jacksonville was left at 11:12 P. M., at 1:29 P. M. the train stopped at Waycross. Two stops had been made, so that the time reduces to less than a mile a minute."—From the Savannah Morning News, Wednesday Oct. 29th.

The train referred to above was pulled by engine No. 118 with Engineer O'Neill at the throttle, Conductor Jos. Palmer in charge. Running time was 58:3 miles per hour.

SATURDAY MORNING. NOVEMBER 8.

SUPPRESS VAGRANCY.

There has been or will be introduced in the Georgia Legislature a bill to suppress vagrancy in that State. We have seen an outline of the bill, some of the features of which are unique. The object is to prevent loafing, and while it applies to both races, of course it will have to do more with negroes than white people, because there are more negro than white loafers, and more of that kind who have no visible means of support.

One of the provisions of the bill to which we refer which is unique provides for patrolmen in every county, whose business it will be to patrol a prescribed area, with a view to ascertaining if there be any habitual idlers in their jurisdiction, and if so to find out what the matter is and why they are not employed. If they are able bodied and can work they are warned to go to work or take the chances of the penalty of wilful idleness, and if they disregard the warning they are taken into custody and put where they will find work and be required to do it under the supervision of State guards. These patrols are for the rural districts, every township having a suitable number, the presumption being that the cities and towns have police force and regulations sufficient to keep up with the loafing element. The patrolmen receive no pay, except for the time actually taken in going the rounds, it being considered that as good citizens they will co-operate in carrying out a measure in which they as well as others are interested.

The belief is confidently entertained by many that if this bill be passed and enforced as contemplated it will effectually suppress the loafing nuisance in the State and be a godsend especially to the rural districts which for want of police protection are sufferers from negro vagrancy. The papers of that State are ardent supporters of more stringent laws to suppress vagrancy, one of which, the Atlanta Journal, presents the following forcible reasons why there should be, and why the laws should be rigidly enforced. It says:

One of the most important matters to which the present Legislature could and should turn its attention is the passage of a measure that will solve the vagrancy problem of this State.

It must be apparant to every one that the present vagrancy law of Georgia is, to all intents and purposes, a farce of the worst kind. Spasmodic efforts have been frequently made in various communities to enforce the law against idleness, but all to little or no purpose. The reason for this is plain—it is a too easy matter to escape conviction under the existing statutes. The flimsiest technicalities operate to defeat the purpose of the law, and, however zealous the officials may be, they become discouraged after so many fruitless attempts to stamp out idleness.

And yet there is no greater menace to the peace and prosperity of Georgia to-day than its idle population. There was never a truer saying than "an idle mind is the devil's workshop," and it is as applicable to-day as it ever was.

The courts of Georgia are kept busy by people who spend their days in idleness. The convict camps are recruited, for the most part, from this idle population. Two-thirds of the criminal assaults and murders that occur in this and every other Southern State are the direct results of idleness. The news columns of every paper in Georgia furnish almost daily proof of these assertions.

With these facts before us, is it not time we were striking at the root of the evil? Instead of locking the stable after the horse is stolen, why not adopt preventive measures? Idleness is in itself a crime; a crime against God and man. Why not stamp it out, therefore, before it leads to worse crimes.

A man who can work and won't work should be made to work. For wages, if he will; but, if not, for the community which he pollutes with his presence. There should be no escape for such as these. Technicalities should not be allowed to save them from righteous punishment.

Fader the present law, it is an easy matter for a negro, or a white man either, as is sometimes the case, who doesn't perform two days' honest work a month to show that he has "visible means of support." Fifty cents or a dollar earned here and there is accepted, as technical proof of this, and on such a ridiculous exhibition of industry he is allowed to go unwhipped of justice. Common sense teaches us that this should not be.

There is work in Georgia, steady work, six days work a week, for every able-bodied, sober man who wants it. And if he doesn't want it, he should be made to have it. On this idea a new vagrant law for this State should be based. The law should be so framed as to permit conviction on the charge of vagrancy of any person who cannot prove that he is steadily employed, or, at least desires to be.

There need be no fear that the innocent would suffer under a law so rigid as this; for our courts are not so blind that they would subject to punishment any man who did not come clearly within the intent of the law. Where circumstances alter cases, these circstances could be easily established and would be readily accepted.

The thing is to strike deep at the root of this evil by passing a law so rigid that it could not be laughed at and defied by the thousands who today are spending their time in idleness and devilment.

It is a serious matter and it should not be passed over or set aside any longer. Our towns and cities are overrun with the idle negroes who eke out a living by hook or crook, who don't work ten hours a month, instead of ten hours a day, as they should. And all the while our farmers and saw mill men and turpentine operators are crying for laborers.

Lands are lying idle in every county in Georgia to-day that would be producing profitable crops if farm labor were more plentiful. But the negroes are in the towns and cities, doing nothing that is of any value to themselves or to any one else. They live, for the most part, from some white man's kitchen or by picking up a stray job here and there; and when these sources fail them, by snatching purses, sneak thieving or by committing burglary when necessary.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that if a rigid vagrancy law could be enforced in Atlanta to day and its streets cleared of idle negroes, and whites as well—parasites on the body politic—the convict forces of the State would be increased a thousand or more forthwith. And what is true of Atlanta is proportionately true of every other town and city in Georgia.

The present Legislature could do no greater work for the State than by enacting a law that will put an end to this condition of affairs.

We quote this editorial entire because every paragraph of it applies as pertinently to North Carolina as it does to Georgia, and as pertinently to every other Southern State.

There are reasons, of course, why there are so many negro idlers, reasons for which the negroes themselves are not wholely responsible. In the first place as a race they are not over fond of work, especially the young men and women. In the second place if they get any schooling they have an idea that work isn't tony enough for them, that they must live by their wits and that generally means to live upon some one else. In the third place life in the country is too monotonous for many of them and hence they drift off to the towns and cities, already over supplied with common laborers and hence they find themselves with little to do if they have a inclination to do anything, picking up odd jobs occasionally upon which they must depend for support. The fact that so few of them have trades of any kind or can do any special work, confines them to the commoner kinds of drudgery which, as we have remarked, are already more than supplied in the cities and towns, and hence there are hundreds of able-bodied idlers in all of our cities and larger towns, while there is an unsupplied call for labor in the rural districts.

Want of employment, and lack of money, leads to lying and stealing, burglary, &c., furnishing candidates, for the jails, the courts, the penitentiary and the gallows.

Thoughtful negroes like Booker Washington and others, who have given study to the race problem as it affects their own people principally, realize all this and are laboring earnestly to remedy it, by teaching the dignity of labor, urging the necessity of it upon their people, and advising them to stay on the farms and keep away from the allurements and pitfalls of the towns, which prove the ruin of so many, but however well directed their efforts they will never be reasonably successful until backed by stringent and well enforced vagrancy laws which will make protracted voluntary idleness an offence against the State. A rigid enforcement of vagrancy laws in every Southern State, in addition to being salutary in other respects, would also be a long stride in the direction of the solution of the race problem.

A TRUST WANTED.

The great market for ginseng is in China, where it is highly prized and is looked upon as a panacea for all the ills mortal flesh is heir to. Without it the Chinese doctor would have to shut up shop. It is in great demand, also, in other Eastern countries where, probably, as in China, great medicidal virtues are ascribed to it. But the prices vary in those countries, as we learn by the following, which we clip from the Philadelphia Press:

A ginseng trust has been formed in Japan, and if the Japan Daily Mail tells the truth there is need of something of the kind, as it asserts that ginseng brings $14.94 a pound in Korea and only 49 cents in Japan. A trust controls it in Korea, while in Japan there is no kind of protection. Still, there is a difference probably in the quality of the ginseng, or there could be no such difference in price.

Isn't this a pretty good trust object lesson? In Japan, where there is no trust on ginseng, it sells for 49 cents a pound; but in Korea, where a trust controls it, it sells for $14.94 a pound. So that the sick Korean pays $14.94 cents for the same stuff that the sick denizen of Japan buys for 49 cents, which ought to make the sick Korean pretty sick of the trusts.

We have been assured by the American trust organs that trusts do not put up prices, in face of the proof to the contrary every day; but how about this trust which controls the ginseng business in Korea? It is very costly in China also, and it is doubtless controlled there by a trust, as it is in Korea. These trusts are playing the business for all there is in it, and the hoggishness they show is proof that they have the game in their own hands and fear no competition, because they can easily control the ginseng crop and make their victims pay any price they want for it, just as the Quinine Trust used to do in this country before quinine was put upon the free list and they were protected in the extortionate plunder by the tariff.

Minister Wu Ting Fang, having taken a turn at nearly everything else, tackled the Spirits at a Spiritual seance in Washington the other day. He wanted to find out how old Li Hung Chang is getting along since he joined the hosts of shades on the other side. But Li was busy and not in a talkative mood.

CUTTING LOOSE.

The Raleigh News and Observer quotes a prominent Republican of Raleigh as saying after the election last Tuesday that "the Republican party must cut loose from the negro and the trusts." It seems to us, judging from the election returns, that if the Republican party in this State had not cut loose from the negro that the negro had pretty effectually cut loose from the Republican party.

That man was somewhat belated in the conclusion he had come to, and he was doubtless confining his vision to North Carolina and other Southern States. If the Republican party as a National organization had cut loose from the negro and the trusts it would now be about in the same predicament as the Republican party is in North Carolina, for there are at least a half dozen Northern States where the negro voters hold the balance of power, and which the Republicans carry with negro votes. Cut these votes out and New York, Indiana, Illinois, and several other Republican States would be Democratic.

That's what spurred Gen. Clarkson and Postmaster General Payne up to arranging that interview between the President and those three negro bishops, and brought out that letter from Gen. Clarkson to "My Dear Mr. Person" (colored).

The machine managers of the Republican party know the value to them of the negro votes in those States and have entirely too much gumption to cut loose from the negro, and they know, too, the value of the trusts, and will play a mighty slick game when there is any cutting loose from them proposed. They will go just far enough on that line to make a pretence of placating the anti-trust Republicans without alarming or hurting the trusts.

The Department of Agriculture in Minnesota has struck on the idea of training girls for farmers' wives. There were fifty in the Minneapolis College of Agriculture studying the respective branches that would qualify them as first class assistants of the farmers they may marry, if they don't change their minds and marry some other fellows.

An anti-cigarette orator predicts that the cigarette will be extinct in ten years. And by that time a good many of the boys who smoke them will be extinct, too.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Those Democrats who thought it would be much better for their party to lose this time will probably be able to figure out a sort of "constructive" victory from yesterday's returns.—Atlanta Journal, Dem.

—— The State of Oho is dotted with defeated Democratic candidates for the county and district offices who blame their discomfiture on Tom Johnson's boomerangic plan of campaigning. It is quite likely that Tom will have a lively time if he shows up at the next Democratic convention with an ambition.—Washington Post, Ind.

—— The Cuban budget shows that after everything is paid for during the coming fiscal year, there should be $2,614,000 surplus in the treasury. If Cuba can make such a showing, after the first year of her liberation and self government, her people will not likely be seeking annexation. In truth, annexation will be sought by the Cubans as the last resort only.

Mrs. J. M. Powell

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Lieutenant-Commander of the Ladies of the Maccabees Lodge.

633 Troost Ave., KANSAS CITY, MO., March 28, 1902.

In my official capacity it is to my interest to see that members of our society are in the best possible physical health. Having had occasion to use Wine of Cardui myself and having found it a remedy of no ordinary merit but far above anything I have ever known, and being especially adapted to cure all the ills to which women are subject, I have often taken occasion to recommend it and I have never yet had any reason to regret it, for in every instance I have found it most helpful. It not only effects a quick cure, but those who have taken a thorough treatment of this very meritorious medicine seem to be renewed from head to foot, so that they are particularly immune from catching diseases and colds, which are really the beginning of the majority of them. Since I have used Wine of Cardui myself I feel in excellent physical condition and have no need of doctors or other medicine. I consider it a most desirable family remedy and as I have observed for the last three years the very satisfactory results obtained, it is with great pleasure I give public endorsement to Wine of Cardui, as I have many times done privately.

Mrs. J. M. Powell

THE Ladies of the Maccabees is one of the largest fraternal insurance organizations in the country and sickness and death among its members call for benefits to be paid out of the treasury of the order. The great organization is entirely in the hands of women who have so successfully conducted its affairs that among the secret orders for women the Ladies of the Maccabees is regarded as a model. Among the leaders of this great order is Mrs. J. M. Powell of Kansas City, Mo. She is a lady of high intelligence and as lieutenant-commander of the Kansas City lodge has the welfare of the organization more or less in her keeping. She says: "In my official capacity it is to my interest to see that members of our society are in the best possible physical health." Clear judgment prompts her to recommend Wine of Cardui to the members of her organization.

Wine of Cardui has benefited every woman who has taken it. Such a remedy is worthy every woman's confidence in the time of sickness when doctors fail and other medicines do not bring the sufferer relief. Wine of Cardui will cure any uncomplicated cases of irregular periods and bearing down pains. It is valuable during pregnancy, at childbirth and during the change of life. It is not a strong medicine but it quickly relieves female troubles in an easy and natural way. It strengthens the nervous system, acts directly on the genital organs and is the finest tonic for women known to the medical science.

If Mrs. Powell was cured by Wine of Cardui and recommends it to thousands of her lodge members, don't you think it is worth a trial in your home?

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

ON COTTON.

NEW YORK, November 7, 1902.—The trio of Englishmen—Messrs. Buston, Neill and Ellison—whose apparent business it is to overestimate the size of the American cotton crop and depreciate its value in the interests of foreign consumers, have now all been heard from, and the effect of the fulmination upon the market seems to have been exhausted. As against this the United States census report indicates a crop of under ten million bales. The stock of American cotton afloat and in store at Liverpool is 108,000 bales less than last year, the visible supply is 160,000 bales less than last year, and the amount of American cotton coming in sight this week is approximately 60,000 bales less than last year. Facts will tell. The cotton market has shown a steadier undertone to-day than at any time since the rumblings of Mr. Buston's estimate commenced to be heard. The worst seems to be over. Southern holders having due regard to the facts of the case, will not part with their cotton, and speculative sellers of paper contracts in New York will probably have an advancing market to reckon with shortly.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of three to nine points, following the unexpectedly strong showing of the Liverpool cables. This was followed by further cables showing still greater improvement and houses with foreign connections were also heavy buyers during the early trading. In addition to this it was noted that the receipts were showing a decided falling off; that the end-week statements were sure to prove decidedly bullish and that sentiment which had become very bearish was consequently showing a material change. Toward noon, however, the bears made a fresh raid on values, led by a prominent Philadelphia party. Their operations proved somewhat successful for a time owing to the continued favorable weather reported for the belt and rumors that the falling off in receipts was likely to prove no more than temporary. The statistical position when published proved quite as bullish as anticipated, but for a time exerted no appreciable effect on the trading. From the opening advance prices at one time showed a decline of seven to twelve points. Following this there was a final rally due to fears that the market had been oversold and a general movement to cover by the room element, who were disposed to accept their profits rather than carry their commitments over night. This buying led to a recovery from the low point, and the close was finally steady with quotations net two points lower to four higher.

I have found Dr. Moffett's TEETHINA a splendid remedy and aid for my teething children. When my oldest boy was a teething child, every succeeding day warned us that we would inevitably lose him. I happened upon TEETHINA, and began at once administering it to him, and his improvement was marked in 24 hours, and from that day on he recuperated. I have constantly kept it and used it since with my children, and have taken great pleasure in sounding its praises to all mothers of young children. I found it invaluable even after the teething period was passed.

ACKNOWLEDGED THE CORN

A Popular Expression That Had Its Origin In Congress.

The following is the origin of "I acknowledge the corn," which is used in the sense of admitting failure or having been outwitted: In 1828 Andrew Stewart was in congress discussing the principles of protection and said in the course of his remarks that Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana sent their haystacks, cornfields and fodder to New York and Philadelphia markets to sell.

Charles A. Wyckliffe jumped up and said: "Why, that is absurd, Mr. Speaker. I call the gentleman to order. He is stating an absurdity. We never send haystacks or cornfields to New York or Philadelphia."

"Well, what do you send?" asked Stewart.

"We send," replied Wyckcliffe, "horses, cattle, hogs and mules."

"Well," continued Stewart, "what makes your horses, cattle, hogs and mules? You feed $100 worth of hay to a horse; you get on top of your haystack and ride off to market. How about your cattle? You make every one carry $50 worth of hay or grass to an eastern market. You send a hog worth $10 to market. How much corn at 33 cents a bushel does it take to fatten it? Why, thirty bushels. Then you put thirty bushels of corn into the shape of a hog and make it walk to an eastern market."

Before Stewart could proceed further Wyckliffe arose and said, "Mr. Speaker, I acknowledge the corn."

Scotch Consolation.

A story is told of a canny Scot who dealt in old horses, alternating his spells of labor with heavy sprees. During the period of depression which followed each overindulgence John habitually took to bed and there diligently studied the family Bible. During one of these fits of attempted reformation his condition prompted his wife to call in the Rev. Mr. Wallace, the parish minister, who at the time happened to be passing.

"Oh, Maister Wallace, come in and see oor John. He's rale bad."

"What's wrang wi' him?"

"He's feart to meet his Makker," said Mrs. John.

Quick as fire came the crushing reply:

"Humph! Tell'm he needna be feart for that. He'll never see'm!"

The Home of the Kindergarten.

The Japanese have the most perfect kindergarten system in the world. In fact, they originated this method of instructing by entertainment instead of by punishment. Their play apparatus for such purposes is elaborate, but all of it is adapted to the infant mind, which it is designed at once to amuse and to inform. The little ones of Japan even become somewhat interested in mathematics by seeing and feeling what a pretty thing a cone, a sphere or a cylinder is when cut out of wood with a lathe. They make outlines of solid figures out of straw, with green peas to hold the joints together, and for the instruction of the blind flat blocks are provided, with the Japanese characters raised upon them.—Pearson's Weekly.

McKinley and His Mother.

Dr. Rixey, who for some years was the private physician in the McKinley household, used to tell that when the late president's mother sat down for the first time to a White House dinner what seemed to impress her most was the prodigal supply of cream. She commented on the abundance and then added, "Well, William, at last I know what they mean when they speak of the cream of society."

The president laughed. "I admit," said he, "that there seems to be an extravagant array of cream on the table, but you know, mother, we can afford to keep a cow now."

Water Clocks In China.

In the history of the Tang dynasty it is stated that in Persia at the same period there was a clepsydra on a terrace near the palace formed of a balance containing twelve metal balls, one of which fell every hour on a bell and thus struck the hours correctly. It is deemed not unlikely that this instrument was identical with the celebrated one which the king of Persia sent in the year 807 to Charlemagne.

In 808 the astronomer Tsiang produced an improvement on all former instruments—a machine arranged on a sort of miniature terrace ten feet high and divided into three stories, the works being in the middle. Twelve images of men, one for every hour, appeared in turn before an opening in the terrace. Another set of automata struck the hours and eighths of hours. These figures occupied the lowest story.

The upper story was devoted to astronomy, containing an orrery in motion. Very complex machinery must have been required. As to the nature of the mechanism nothing is known except that it was kept going by falling water.

Dickens' Unfortunate Love.

Concerning Charles Dickens, it is well known that though he married Catherine, one of George Hogarth's three daughters, in 1836, he was later devotedly attached to her sister Mary. Why he did not marry Mary in the first place is not certainly known, unless it be that Mary, a young woman of great loveliness of character, had successfully concealed her own affection for Catherine's betrothed in order to save her sister from disappointment.—Percy Fitzgerald in Harper's Magazine.

Friendly Aid.

Jinks—See here, old boy! You ought to do something to reduce your flesh. You are becoming fearfully stout.

A Strenuous Life.

"I suppose a public man has to read a great deal," said the thoughtful man.

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum; "the demand for anecdotes is so great now that a man has to keep digging in the library all the time in order to keep up the supply of stories about himself."—Washington Star.

AN ODD CALLING.

The Professional Business Adviser and His Methods.

One of the oddest of occupations is that of the professional "business adviser." If your affairs are not conducted to your liking, this gentleman for a consideration will station himself in your office in a position to see all that is going on. He will nose into your affairs for a week or longer at your option, at the end of which time he will "be prepared to point out the faults of your system, employees who neglect their duties, wastage of supplies and time, and suggest means of improving, extending and conducting your affairs on a sounder basis."

The words quoted are from this modest gentleman's advertisement. In brief this man, after a week's observation, will undertake to rearrange the most complex office systems "for a consideration" and give you advice "free, gratis, for nothing." As drowning men catch at straws, so do men whose affairs are hopelessly and inextricably muddled grasp at the chance this gentleman holds out to them. The professional "business adviser" has plenty of clients, and nine times out of ten his advice to his employer is to "make an assignment for the benefit of your creditors." It is the safest counsel he can give.—Philadelphia Times.

Beards In Old Russia.

The Russians had an old law by which any one who drew hair from another's beard should be fined four times as much as for cutting off a finger, and the importance and value of the appendage are further illustrated by the fact that, although the loss of a leg was estimated at 12 shillings, the loss of the beard was estimated at 20.—London Globe.

Rheumacide

Continues to make Miraculous Cures

READ THIS LETTER:

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

DILLON, S. C., Aug. 18th, 1902.

Gentlemen:—In September, 1899, I took rheumatism in a very bad form. In a month after the disease started I had to give up my work and go to bed. It continued to grow worse until my arms and hands were badly drawn, so much so that I could not use them. My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly twelve months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, came to see me. He told me to try your "RHEUMACIDE." He got me one bottle of the medicine and I began to take it and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used five and a half bottles and was completely cured. That was two years ago, and my health has been excellent ever since. Have had no symptoms of rheumatism. I regard "RHEUMACIDE" as by far the best remedy for rheumatism on the market. I cannot say too much for it. I have recommended it to others since and it has cured them.

Will say further, that I began to walk in about six days after I began to take "RHEUMACIDE," with the aid of crutches; in about three months after I began to take it, I could walk as good as anybody, and went back to work again.

Very truly, JAMES WILKES.

Too Much Appreciation.

A biography of Huxley dwells on the annoyance which he suffered from bores. But the plague had its funny side. Huxley once wrote to a friend:

"I had a letter from a fellow yesterday morning who must be a lunatic, to the effect that he had been reading my essays, thought I was the man to spend a month with and was coming down by the 5 o'clock train attended by his seven children and his mother-in-law!"

The Jackpot Defined.

A subscriber asks, "What is a jackpot that I read about once in awhile, and what seems to be the difficulty in getting it open?"

A jackpot is one for properly cooking fish and is especially recommended for suckers. It has a time lock, over the combination of which millions of Americans have burned the midnight oil in vain.—American Thresherman.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 8

THE WAR IN VENEZUELA.

Revolutionary Forces Retreated Because They Are Without Ammunition—Castro's Troops in Hot Pursuit.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LAVICTORIA, VENEZUELA, November 7.—News has been received here concerning the revolutionary forces. It is to the effect that on the night of November 1st the revolutionists withdrew from their positions near La-Victoria and San Mateo, because they were without ammunition. The fact that the rebels lacked cartridges caused a disagreement between General Matos and General Rolando, which was followed by hot words. General Rolando declared that the shortage of ammunition was the fault of General Matos and that if the success of the revolution was endangered by this condition, General Matos alone was responsible. He said that all was lost, and with his followers, about 200 men, he withdrew from the main body of rebels in the direction of Alta Gracia.

President Castro since he discovered that the revolutionists only retreated because of their absolute lack of ammunition, has caused them to be pursued day and night by government soldiers. The latest report issued by the government says that Generals Matos, Mendoza and Riera and their commands are fleeing in disorder in an effort to reach the mountainous districts. These generals are supposed to be near Barrera, a point twelve miles from the Lake of Valencia.

It is difficult to understand the sudden and apparent complete collapse of the revolutionary movement. But a few days ago the rebels seemed to be upon the eve of victory while their cause now seems absolutely lost.

President Castro having sent his men in all directions to cut the retreating enemy, left here to day for Caracas. The government soldiers who following up the rebels scored their first success this morning by the capture of General Ramon Luizi, who was making his way in the direction of Alta Gracia with three hundred thousand rounds of ammunition and 4,050 men to reinforce the revolutionists.

TO PREVENT LYNCHING.

Alabama State Troops Called Out to Protect a Negro Charged With Assault.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ANNISTON, ALA., Nov. 7.—Orders have been issued ordering out the second battalion of the Third infantry, Alabama National Guard, to protect Jason Bacon, a negro who was brought here and placed in jail last night on the charge of assaulting Mrs. John Williams, near here. A mob of 400 people is gathered at the Williams' home. Mrs. Williams is in a semi-conscious condition and failed to identify the negro. When turned over to the sheriff the understanding was had that the negro should not be removed from the county until a chance was given for identification.

A mob of 300 men gathered at the jail at noon. A speech was made by the Sheriff and the crowd dispersed. When the negro was brought to the city he was strongly guarded. A negro named Lanford, also answering to the description of Mrs. Williams, assailant is now being sought by a large crowd near Alexandria. The local military company is being mobilized and will be ready to march in a short time.

NEW YORK ELECTIONS.

Democrats Claim 12,000 Plurality for Their Attorney General.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Chairman Dunn, of the Republican State committee, said to-day that although the Republicans had conceded the election of Judge Grant to the court of appeals, they would wait for the official count before giving up the attorney generalship. Elliott Danforth, of the Democratic State Committee, said to-day that Cuneen, the Democratic nominee for attorney general, would have a plurality of 12,000 to 20,000. Mr. Danforth based his estimate on telegrams received from some of the Democratic committees who reported that Mr. Cuneen had received virtually the full prohibition vote in addition to the Democratic vote.

MOLINEUX TRIAL NEARING ITS END.

Taking of Evidence in Case Concluded and Court Adjourned Until Monday.

VERDICT EXPECTED TUESDAY.

Cornish on the Witness Stand—Mrs. Stephenson Called — Her Husband Also Testified—Denied Statements of Witness Adams.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The taking of evidence in the second trial of Roland B. Molineux for the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, was ended to-day and court was adjourned until Monday, when the argument of counsel will be made. A verdict is looked for on Tuesday.

The sensational turn given to the testimony for the defence yesterday, when Mrs. Anna Stephenson, wife of a Brooklyn policeman, said she thought Cornish was the man she saw mail the poison package, was continued to-day. Cornish was recalled to the stand and was asked whether he had a brown overcoat in 1898. Mrs. Stephenson said the man she saw mail the poison package wore a brown overcoat. Cornish said to-day he had no overcoat at all that Winter and then Mr. Black read from the minutes of the last trial to show that Cornish had testified at that time that he had only one overcoat and that it was brown.

W. M. K. Olcott, one of Molineux's counsel, testified that he had purchased cyanide of mercury without difficulty at a drug store in this city, by saying that he wanted it for photographic experiments. Two other witnesses gave similar testimony. Professor Vulte, of Columbia University, gave evidence to the effect that Molineux was in his company from noon until after dark on the day the poison package was mailed. The package was mailed during the afternoon.

H. E. Terry, a reporter, gave testimony to contradict that of Joseph Koch, who identified Molineux as the man who hired the letter box from him in September, 1890. Witness was asked if Kock went to a newspaper office and offered to identify Molineux as the man who hired the letter box if witness would pay him $1,000. Witness said he did.

The decree of divorce granted to Mrs. Rogers was put in evidence to show that it was granted after the death of Mrs. Adams, and then by consent of the prosecution ex Gov. Black submitted a table compiled by one of his clerks to show that although the written exhibits are made up of several thousand individual letters, the prosecution has based its contention that Molineux wrote them all upon the similarity found in some seventeen letters.

That closed the case for the defence, and Mr. Osborne called Joseph Farrell, the hitherto missing Newark detective, as his first witness in rebuttal.

Mr. Farrell, replying to a question by Mr. Osborne, said he was sure the evidence he had given at the first trial was correct. At that trial he testified that he met Molineux near a railway station in Newark on the afternoon the bottle-holder was bought. Molineux has testified at the present trial that he could not remember meeting Farrell that day.

George H. Baker, a clerk in the employ of the Newark postoffice, testified that the Burns letter, the conceded writing of Molineux, was mailed at Newark within a half mile of Molineux's office. The letter was on the much described blue paper and the object was to throw doubtion Molineux's statement that he could not remember where he wrote it, but was sure that he had none of that paper at the factory.

Then Mr. Osborne set about upsetting Mrs. Stephenson's identification of Cornish and substantiating the account Cornish has given of his whereabouts on Fridry, December 23d, when Mrs. Stephenson said she saw him at the postoffice.

John Yokum was the first witness Mr. Osborne called for the purpose. He said he met Cornish about noon and they lunched together. At about 2:30 they went to the office of James F. Sullivan to talk over athletic matters. Yokum said he remained in the office until 4:30 o'clock, and that Cornish was there all the time. He said Cornish did not wear an overcoat. Mrs. Stephenson's man had on a brown overcoat. He said Mr. Sullivan's office was about 300 feet from the general postoffice.

James Mitchell, the hammer-thrower and a writer of sporting topics, testified that he was at Sullivan's office that day and saw Cornish there. He believed he was there all the afternoon. Harry S. Cornish denied absolutely that he was at the postoffice when Mrs. Stephenson said she saw him, and declared that he never left Sullivan's office from the time he went there until after 5 o'clock. Witness said he did not wear an overcoat on December 23d, 1898, in reply to a question by ex-Governor Black. Cornish said he was positive he did not own one at that time. Mr. Black asked the witness if he did not own a brown overcoat in the Fall and Winter of 1898, and the reply was "I did not." Then Mr. Black read to Cornish an abstract from his testimony at the last trial as follows: "During the Fall and Winter of 1898, I wore the same overcoat I have got over there (indicating a chair in the rear of the court room.) It is a brown overcoat. I did not wear a white hat at all last year."

Cornish said he was sure it was before 3 o'clock when he reached Sullivan's office. When Mr. Black referred to the minutes of the last trial he found that Cornish then placed the hour of his visit at Sullivan's office at before 4 o'clock.

Howard Adams, called by the prosecution, said he was sitting near Mrs. Stephenson in court yesterday and saw two men indicate Cornish to her as soon as Cornish entered the court room and she said: "Is it?"

Witness also said, "A man with gray hair said to Mrs. Stephenson, 'That's Cornish,' and she replied: 'Is it?' Later, a young man said: 'That's Cornish,' and again she said: 'Is it—where?'"

Mr. Osborne announced that the prosecution rested, and ex-Governor Black called Mrs. Stephenson in surrobuttal.

Mrs. Stephenson denied to Mr. Osborne that any such occurrence had taken place. The ex Governor called her husband and he also said Adams was wrong. Mr. Stephenson said he never saw Cornish before and could not have pointed him out. He said he heard more than two years ago all his wife had testified. Answering the assistant attorney, Stephenson said he had not reported the information to the authorities because he "did not take any stock in it." He said he reported to the doctor.

Neither side had anything further to present, and Justice Lambert dismissed the jury until Monday morning.

NERGO CHARGED WITH MURDEROUS ASSAULT.

Supposed Assailant of Mrs. Dennis, the Dressmaker, Who Died Recently From Wounds Received.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, November 7.—Richard Cole, a colored porter, 20 years old, was arrested to-day and committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury, on the charge of committing an assault on Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, a well known dress-maker, at her home in this city over ten months ago. Mrs. Dennis died from her injuries about a fortnight ago, without recovering sufficiently to talk rationally.

Julius Van Brakle, colored, formerly proprietor of the Brunswick Hotel, testified to-day before the coroner's jury that on March 19th Cole said something to him to the effect that he (Cole) would be a happy man if Mrs. Dennis was dead, and also had said once when he looked worried: "Yes, if you had on your mind what I have on my mind, you would look worried, too."

VanBrakle said Cole made certain statements regarding the reason why he did not care to visit the sick woman, among other things that Mrs. Dennis might say something which would reopen the investigation. Detective Hartigan, who has been working on the case ever since the crime was committed, testified that Cole is the only person among those he investigated who wavered in his statements. Cole, who also testified before the coroner's jury, denied making the assault and he protested that he had assisted the authorities. He also denied using language attributed to him by Van Brakle.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY.

Report of Maj Gen. Corbin, Adjutant General — Recommendation as to Arming the National Guard.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The annual report of Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, shows that during the fiscal year there were thirty-five officers killed in action or died of wounds and disease, twenty-one resigned and sixty-eight retired. Of the enlisted men 1,227 were killed or died of wounds and disease, 35,805 were discharged on the expiration of service, 5,698 were discharged for disability or dismissed by order of court martial, 4,667 deserted, two were missing and 203 retired.

The adjutant general has obtained the number and kind of arms in the hands of the National Guard in the several States and finds less than 4000 U. States magazine rifles in their possession. Of the multitude of other types he says, "this heterogeneous collection of obselete arms is a very serious detriment to the efficiency of the the entire National Guard, which, in organization, drill, instruction, etc., assimilates closely to the regular army and should be armed with the same arms as the latter. If called into service under this deplorable condition, much trouble and vexatious delays are involved in providing the different kinds of ammunition required and in urgent or unforseen contingencies may lead to disastrous results."

Gen. Corbin has the following to say concerning early marriages:

"The early marriage of the younger officers of the army, many of whom are entirely dependent upon their pay and allowances for support, is greatly to be deplored and should be discouraged. A young officer should have but one allegiance, and that should be to the service. Those without private means must necessarily devote their pay between the demands of their office and family. A considerable number are required for service in the Philippines where living is expensive, and the accomplishment of this tour of duty results in a natural hardship to officers with families."

Trinity College, N. C., was selected as the next place of meeting.

AFFAIRS IN COLOMBIA.

The Proposed Peace Conference—General Uribe Sentenced to Death.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

SAN JOSE, COSTA RICA, Nov 7—Gen. Vargas-Santos, the military director of the Colombian revolution, who has been here for some time past, will not attend the proposed peace conference between representatives of the Colombian revolutionists and the Colombian government, which is to be held on board the United States battleship Wisconsin in Panama harbor. Advices received here last night are believed to show the Colombian government intended to perpetrate some treacherous action if the general went to Panama. It is reported here that the Colombian revolutionary Gen. Uribe-Uribe, who surrendered to forces of the Colombian government under Gen. Marjarres, at Rio Frio last month, has been sentenced to death.

A CABINET MEETING.

Canal Negotiations and Cuban Reciprocity Treaty Discussed.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The Cabinet met to-day for the first time in several months. The meeting, which was held in the new executive office, lasted two and a half hours. Secretary Hay brought forward the Colombian canal negotiations, which were briefly discussed, and he also referred to the progress making toward the negotiation of a reciprocity treaty with Cuba. It is stated, however, that in neither case did the Cabinet show any desire to change the policy which the State Department has been pursuing.

BOSTON MURDERS STILL A MYSTERY.

Pawnbroker Failed to Identify Mason as the Man Who Pledged Watches

OF TWO OF THE VICTIMS.

But a Mrs. Sayres Identifies Mason as a Man Who Had Annoyed Her in a Library Room in Boston Last Summer—Similar Cases.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—During the day the attention of Chief Wade was called to a published interview between Nemser and reporters, in which Nemser said that he was paid to stick to his story and that a mulatto sold the watch. The chief said:

"That is perfectly outrageous. The story is all bosh. Nemser was told that he would be paid for closing his shop and for going about with the officers to help them on the case. He will be reimbursed also for what he gave for the two watches. He is a poor Jew and very much excited, and he told me that he was besieged by so many reporters that he did not know what he was saying or had said."

Chief Wade's statement that Nemser hardly knew what he was saying seems to be borne out by the fact that he told the police positively to-day that the man who pawned the McPhee watch was a white man and later admitted that he might have been a colored man; in fact he rather thought he was.

Prompted by the finding in a pawn shop here of the watches of Agnes McPhee and Clara A. Morton, the two women who have been murdered in assault cases in this vicinity, the police are pressing with all their energy to place if possible the responsibility for the crimes.

The pawnbroker, Joseph Nemser, in whose store both the McPhee and Morton watches were found, was at police headquarters to-day and reported his stories about the watches, after which he started for the East Cambridge jail to see Mason, for the purpose of identifying him. Captain Dugan, of the bureau of criminal investigation, said that Nemser had insisted that it was a mulatto who offered Miss Morton's watch for sale Saturday and that it was the same individual who brought the watch to the store on Monday and sold it for $4.00. He further stated that another negro, older, heavier and darker than the mulatto, joined the latter just as he was receiving the money. An apparent coincidence was noted to-day in connection with the pawning of both the McPhee and Morton watches, in that the address given in the McPhee case was 23 Grove street and in the Morton case the same number—23—in Greenwich street, was given.

In pressing the case at Waverley the State police have found evidence that Mason had made at least two attempts to have women meet him at night at "The Oaks," a section of the Metropolitan Park reservation not far from the McLean insane asylum, where Mason was a patient and on the grounds of which Miss Morton was killed.

Nemser failed to identify Mason. At the jail Mason was placed among six other men and Nemser carefully scrutinized each one. He picked out one man as the person who pawned the watch, but it was not Mason.

The negro who has charge of the house where the Masons live was about his work as usual today, although the police claimed that he had gone away. He said today that he was at his post yesterday and could have been found there by the police if they had looked for him.

During the afternoon a Mrs. Sayres, from Watertown, called at the Cambridge jail and told Sheriff Fairbacin that she wanted to see Alan G. Mason, because she believed from the pictures which had appeared in the newspapers that he was the man who had annoyed her last summer in a library room in this city. Mason again was placed in a line with other inmates of the jail, and with them was subjected to a rigid scrutiny. As in the case of Nemser's attempt at identification, Mrs. Sayres was allowed to give no sign or utter no word in the presence of the men before her, but when she returned to the sheriff's office from the jail she declared that the fourth man in line was the one who had annoyed her. The fourth man was Mason.

This alleged identification by Mrs. Sayres adds another feature to the case, as it recalls another "Jack-the Slugger" case in which John C. Soderquest was convicted of assault with intent to kill Miss B. A. Quett, on August 30th, in the same library building referred to by Mrs. Sayres. Soderquest was the janitor at the building, and for the crime the man is now serving a sentence of seven years. The belief was expressed at the time that Soderquest pleaded guilty that he was responsible for the many mysterious assaults on young women in Cambridge and Brookline, who were beaten on the head with some iron weapon just as Miss Morton and Miss McPhee were. State police are now investigating the story of Mrs. Sayres in comparison with the more important deals of the Soderquest affair.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7.—A formal decree granting the preliminary injunction against the United States Steel Corporation's $200,000 bond conversion plan, which Vice Chancellor Emory allowed last week in the suit of Aspinwall, Hodges and others, was signed by the Vice Chancellor today. Immediately upon the execution of the decree Richard A. Lindabaury, for the steel corporation, served notice of appeal upon Robert H. McCarter, representing the complanants. By agreement of counsel the matter will be argued at the term which opens November 18th.

Vinol, the New Form of Cod Liver Oil.

Causes a Sensation in Medical Cures.

Not Only in America, But Europe.

"Good news goes fast," said Mr. Robert R. Bellamy yesterday, talking to a reporter about that wonderful Vinol, concerning which so much is heard nowadays. "Why, you know that besides being talked about in New England, many of the prominent papers in America are devoting more or less space to this wounderful discovery. See here, what do you think of this?" Whereupon Mr. Robert R. Bellamy produced an article from the Lancet, of London, England.

The Lancet is the greatest medical publication in the world, and anything appearing in its columns is considered as indisputable evidence. "Let me read this to you," said Mr. Robert R. Bellamy. "I won't bother you with much of it, but here is enough to show you what the great men of the old world think of Vinol," whereupon he read the following:

"Recent investigation has led to the isolation of several distinct bodies in cod liver oil, notably amongst which are the alkaloids. These principles have been tested faithfully and the results form the subject of an exclusive report by Gautier and Mourges in the Journal de Pharmacie, who concluded that the combined active principles of cod liver oil act as powerful stimulants of nutrition and assimulation, and show definitely the nature of the principles to which the oil owes its valuable medicinal properties.

"And the best part of this is," continued Mr. Robert R Bellamy, "it is not only the physicians that are enthusiastic, but the people who are taking the remedy. After all, I do not blame them much, either. It does not take but a minute for any one who is obliged to take cod liver oil to find out that Vinol is tasteless. Then the patient soon realizes its advantage. It does good so much more quickly, and accomplishes the desired end in a much more marked manner than cod liver oil in its crude form was ever able to do. Oh yes, of course I consider the success of Vinol as assured. How can it be otherwise,—a discovery that has revolutionized the form and made it practical to prescribe the greatest known medicine for all wasting diseases.

"Just think what it means; getting all the benefits in a concentrated form, and no more nauseating, vile-smelling grease. Yes, come any time you would like to see me. I am always glad to see you about Vinol, and I find out more to say in its praise every day."
